MITCHELL COLLEGE

Foreword

White columns and Traditional stateliness impress in words a picture of an institution that is moving forward. The year 1958-59 has begun the transformation of Mitchell from a church-supported institution to a community college. In the future lie the years of challenge and trial, success and exultation.

The goal of the CIRCLE is to capture the greatness of Mitchell's past and the promise of growth in her future.

Dedication

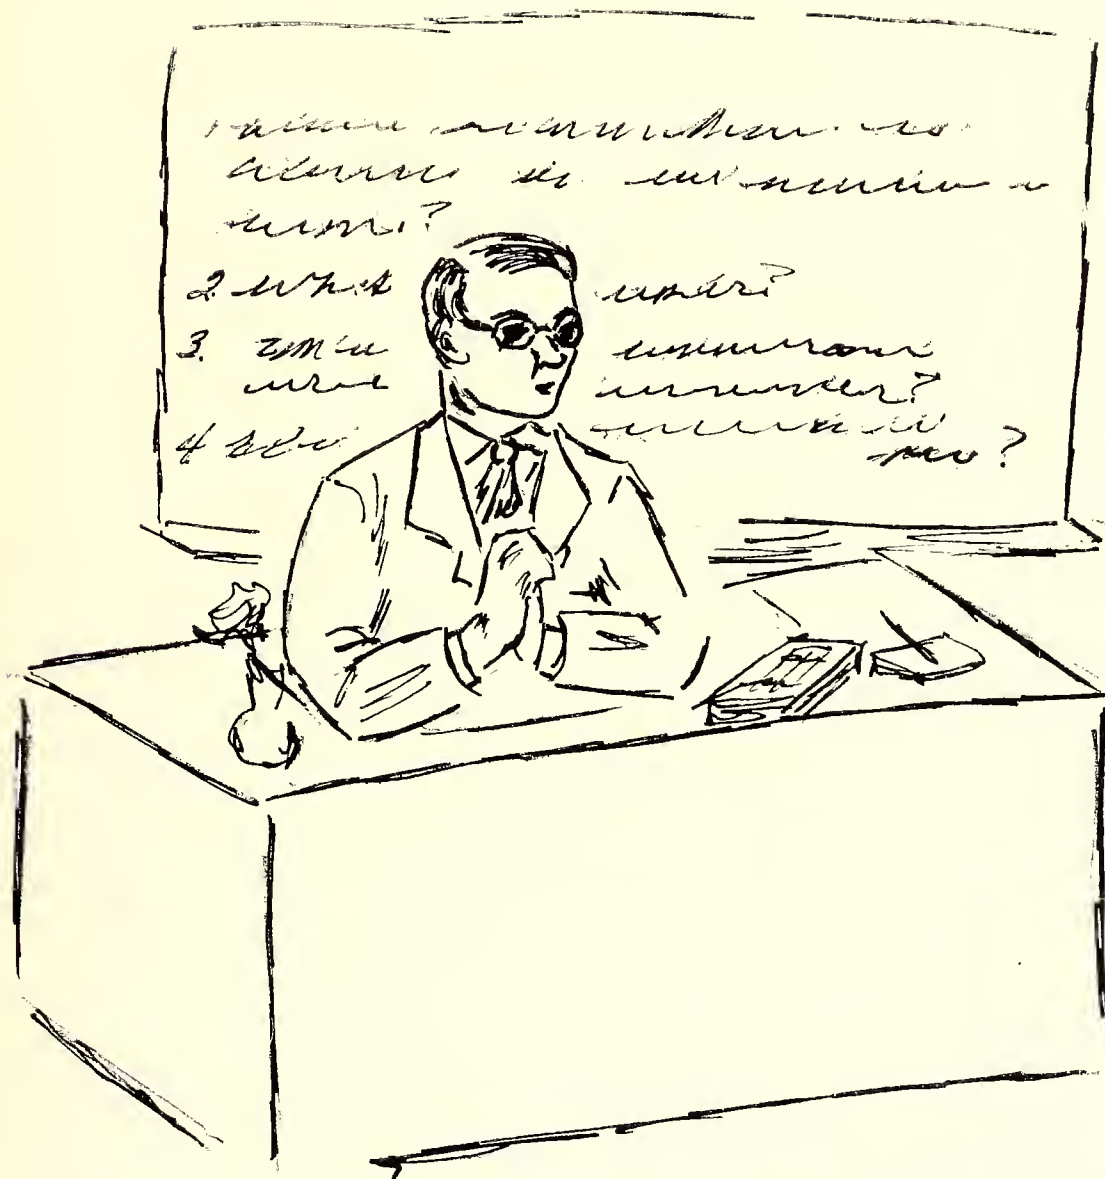

TO MRS. KATHERINE NOOE KNOX

A sincere smile, a sympathetic ear, and a warm heart combine to create a personality who has endeared herself to the students and to this institution. Through her strength of character and kindness of spirit, many of us have been inspired to reach for the heights.

She has given unselfishly of her time, energy, and devotion. We can dedicate only this book; she has dedicated her life.

SUE REID
Co-Editor

Like most editors and staffs, we were constantly pushed by deadlines. Some of these were met, others weren't . . . Here on these two pages you see the ones who always ran, never walked; pushed the pen; pecked the keys; clicked the camera; fumed, fussed . . . And finally when everything went to press, they sighed, smiled, and hoped for the best . . .

Now it is with pride that we present to you the 1959 CIRCLE, hoping that these pages will help to keep alive for many years the memories of life on Mitchell campus—just what they portray.

GIRL'S BASKETBALL TEAM

Although there were no gold cups awarded to the Mitchell College Girl's Basketball team for its scoring ability, the girls deserved tribute for the way they could enjoy themselves even in the face of defeat. Points in a score book were not what these girls gained. It was the more important joy of making deeper friendships through working together and sharing experiences with their teammates. This made the season highly successful in the minds of both the team and its coach, Miss Mary Edna Matheson.

BOY'S BASKETBALL TEAM

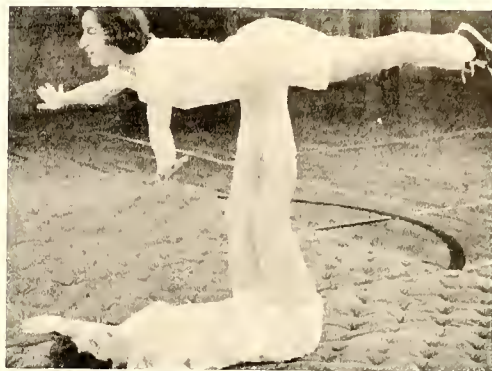

The Mitchell College Boy's Basketball team met the teams of the City League with vigor and determination. The coach, Dean J. Howard Allen, led the boys through many exciting battles. Each boy enjoyed matching wits and skill with the opposition, while working with his teammates.

Intra

Intramurals are a vital part of the Mitchell College curriculum. Physical education offers archery, football, basketball, tennis, and volleyball to the students. Intramurals provide an atmosphere of wholesome fun and sportsmanship on the college campus, along with an opportunity to display individual skill and competitive abilities.

intramurals

This year the girl's intramural championship was won by the Billikins. The Boy's intramural basketball championship was won by the Old Timers. These intramurals were very exciting, and added much to the spirit of the physical education program.
